Attorney General John Ashcroft
US Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20530

Dear Mr. Ashcroft:

I feel bittersweet pleasure at the fact that Microsoft settled with the Department of Justice. Litigation should have ended long ago.

As a user I feel that my rights have never been infringed upon by Microsoft.

In fact, their products have made it easier for me to operate efficiently with computers, more so now than ever before. I realize their market dominance precludes competitors from gaining any edge. But, their products are far superior to any other vendors.

I am glad to see that Microsoft has agreed on particular concessions with the US department of Justice, but I am not happy with nine states holding out. I support the settlement, and look forward to the end of this case.

Sincerely,

Tom Zukowski
